FIRST AMENDED CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT &
DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

Come now Plaintiffs Russell Hammack and Melvin Lampton, individually and on behalf of all other persons similarly situated, for their complaint for damages against Defendant Harbor Freight Tools USA, Inc. (“Defendant”).

NATURE OF ACTION

1. This is a class action claim arising from the deceptive business practices of Defendant in the advertising, packaging, and labeling of a bonded abrasive wheel product (“Defective Product”)¹ that was manufactured, produced, distributed, and/or sold by Defendant.

¹ On information and belief, Defendant manufactures and/or sells at least 30 different types of bonded abrasive wheels under the brands Bauer, Warrior, Hercules, and Chief. They all suffer from the same defect: a failure to include a clear expiration label.

2. During the relevant class period, Defendant sold the Defective Product at Harbor Freight retail store locations throughout the state of Missouri and the state of Kansas.

3. During the relevant class period, Defendant sold the Defective Product to Plaintiffs and other reasonable consumers without adequate advertising, packaging, and labeling that identified that the abrasive wheel product had a shelf life or expiration date after which the product could not be safely used due to risk that the product may give way, crack, split, explode, and fail if used after its shelf life.

PARTIES

4. Plaintiff Russell Hammack (“Hammack”) is a resident and citizen of the state of Kansas.

5. Plaintiff Hammack brings this action on his own behalf and as a representative of a class of similarly situated persons who purchased a Defective Product that was manufactured, produced, distributed, and/or sold by Defendant. This matter arises out of negligent acts, errors and omissions, including those for which Defendant is strictly liable, committed by the Defendant against Plaintiff Hammack causing Plaintiff Hammack and the putative class to suffer economic injury.

6. Plaintiff Hammack brings this action on his own behalf and as a representative of a class of similarly situated persons to recover damages for violations of the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act, Cal. Civ. Code §1750 et seq. and the Kansas Consumer Protection Act, Kan. Stat. Ann. §50-623 et seq., among other claims, for economic and injunctive relief against Defendant which manufactured, tested, distributed, promoted and sold the Defective Product.

7. Plaintiff Hammack is a “person” and has purchased one or more of the Defective Products in a “sale” within the last two years, as those terms are defined in K.S.A. §50-623 et seq. At the time the product was purchased, Plaintiff Hammack was unaware that the product was defective and that the product was not fit for the ordinary purposes for which the product is used in that, when used as reasonably anticipated, the Defective Product cannot be safely used after its shelf life because it may give way, crack, split, explode, and fail.

8. Plaintiff Melvin Lampton (“Lampton”) is a resident and citizen of the state of Missouri.

9. Plaintiff Lampton brings this action on his own behalf and as a representative of a class of persons who purchased a Defective Product that was manufactured, produced, distributed, and/or sold by Defendant. This matter arises out of negligent acts, errors and omissions, including those for which Defendant is strictly liable, committed by the Defendant against Plaintiff Lampton causing Plaintiff Lampton and the putative class to suffer economic injury.

10. Plaintiff Lampton brings this action on his own behalf and as a representative of a class of similarly situated persons to recover damages for violations of the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act, Cal. Civ. Code §1750 et seq. and the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, Mo. Ann. Stat. §§407.010 et seq., among other claims, for economic and injunctive relief against Defendant which manufactured, tested, distributed, promoted and sold the Defective Product.

11. Plaintiff Lampton is a “person” and has purchased one or more of the Defective Products in a “sale” within the last two years, as those terms are defined in §50-623 et seq., R.S.Mo. At the time the product was purchased, Plaintiff Lampton was unaware that the product was defective and that the product was not fit for the ordinary purposes for which the product is used in that, when used as reasonably anticipated, the Defective Product cannot be safely used after its shelf life because it may give way, crack, split, explode, and fail.

12. Plaintiffs, on behalf of themselves and the putative class, seek a refund for monies paid as a result of his purchase of the Defective Product, and further seeks injunctive relief, enjoining Defendant from selling the Defective Product without a clear expiration warning and label.

13. Defendant Harbor Freight Tools USA, Inc. is incorporated in the state of Delaware, has its principal place of business in Calabasas, California, and is registered in the state of Missouri and can be served at Corporate Creations Network Inc., 12747 Olive Boulevard, #300, St. Louis, MO 63141. Defendant is engaged in the business of testing, developing, manufacturing, labeling, marketing, distributing, promoting, supplying and/or selling, either directly or indirectly, through third parties and/or related entities, the Defective Product.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

14. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant pursuant to §506.500 R.S.Mo. in that Defendant transacts business within the state of Missouri and committed one or more tortious acts within the state of Missouri.

15. Defendant transacted business and/or committed tortious acts within the state of Missouri. Defendant designs, manufactures, processes, distributes, installs, uses, and/or sells dangerous and/or defective products in Missouri. Defendant placed the Defective Product and dangerous products into the stream of commerce, sold and/or supplied said products for use, used said products, and/or transacted business and committed tortious acts in Missouri from which Plaintiff Lampton's claims arise.

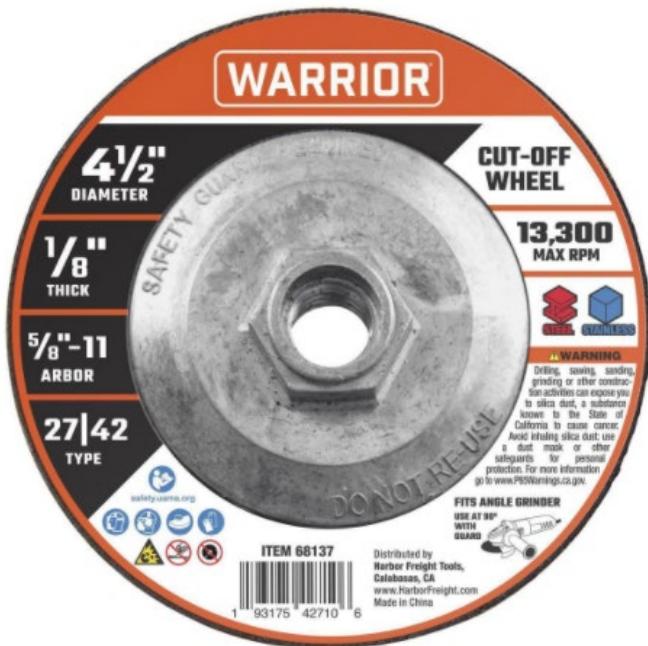

16. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1331 in that a substantial part of the events that gave rise to the claims in this case occurred in this District in that the purchase of the Defective Product by Plaintiff Lampton took place in Sedalia, Missouri.

17. Venue is proper in this Division pursuant to Local Rule 3.2 in that Defendant is not a resident of this District and Plaintiff Melvin Lampton resides in Clinton, Henry County, Missouri.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

18. The Defective Product made the subject of this suit, which is manufactured, produced, distributed, and sold by Defendant, is unreasonably dangerous.

19. Defendant manufactures, produces, distributes and sells at least 30 different types of the Defective Product under the brands Bauer, Warrior, Hercules, and Chief. Bonded abrasive wheels, such as here, are used to cut metal and concrete. The wheels are attached to power tools (e.g., angle grinders, chop saws) that spin at speeds in excess of 5,450 RPM to 25,500 RPM:

20. Defendant concealed or otherwise failed to disclose, reveal, or provide notice to customers, including Plaintiffs, in Defendant's advertising, packaging, labeling or otherwise that these products were defective and that the products are not fit for the ordinary purposes for which the products are used in that if the Defective Product is used after the expiration date it will give way, crack, split, explode and fail.

21. Defendant knew the shelf life of the Defective Product would expire without notice to a reasonable customer and thereby created an unreasonable risk of giving way, cracking, splitting, exploding, failing, and harming customers, yet it failed to warn Plaintiffs and all other similarly situated customers about this risk.

22. Industry standards required Defendant to include a clear expiration date on the label. For example, the Health and Safety Executive Committee states in its Safety in the use of abrasive wheels handbook the following, “All organic bonded wheels for hand-held applications will bear a use-by date of three years from the date of manufacture.” (emphasis added).

23. The Federation of European Producers of Abrasives (FEPA) establishes an industry standard for expiration date or shelf life date for use of three years. United States manufacturers of abrasive wheels recognize FEPA as an industry standard.

24. Defendant had the capability and means to create an alternative label that clearly warned about the expiration date, yet it failed to do so.

25. Defendant is currently selling abrasive wheels that have already expired. For example, the below product is for sale at Defendant's stores:

26. While impossible for a reasonable consumer to identify that the abrasive wheel is expired, buried within the face of the wheel is a combination of ambiguous numbers: "37297 092021." The last six digits, on information and belief, indicate that the wheel expired on September 2021.

27. This is not an isolated incident. Defendant has 29 stores in the state of Missouri, 14 stores in the state of Kansas, and more than 1,200 around the country. On information and belief, several of these stores continue to sell expired abrasive wheels to customers and/or have expired wheels on Defendant's shelves waiting to be purchased. Thus, the risk of a customer purchasing a worthless expired or nearly expired wheel is imminent and, absent injunctive relief, will continue to occur in the future.

28. Despite being misled by Defendant's deceptive advertising, packaging, and labeling, Plaintiffs wish to continue purchasing the Defective Product due to, among other considerations, convenience and availability. However, absent injunctive relief to prevent Defendant from selling abrasive wheel products without clear and understandable advertising, packaging and/or labeling in the future, Plaintiffs will be unable to rely with confidence on the information provided to ensure that abrasive wheel products purchased from Defendant are not expired or nearly expired at the time of purchase and used prior to expiration. While Plaintiffs have some belief as to a possible meaning of the combination of ambiguous numbers on the face of the Defective Product, they lack knowledge of Defendant's precise business practices and have doubts regarding how the numbers provided on the Defective Product can be accurately read and interpreted or may be read and interpreted in the future. This uncertainty, in combination with the desire to continue to purchase abrasive wheels from this Defendant in the future constitutes an ongoing injury that can only be remedied through the granting of injunctive relief and preventing Defendant from selling abrasive wheel products without an easily read and understood expiration date located on the face of the product. In addition, other class members will continue to purchase Defendant's Defective Product near to or after the expiration date without knowledge that the product is, or is about to, expire. Therefore, an award of monetary damages alone will not sufficiently remedy the continuing future harm caused by Defendant's deceptive practices.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

29. Plaintiff Hammack brings this class action pursuant to Rule 23, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, on behalf of himself and the following class of similarly situated persons: all persons who purchased a bonded abrasive wheel at a Harbor Freight retail store:

- a. A “Nationwide Class” based on claims of unjust enrichment, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all customers who purchased any of the Defective Products in the United States within the applicable statute of limitations;
- b. A Kansas Sub-Class based upon claims of unjust enrichment, strict liability design defect, strict liability failure to warn, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all persons who purchased any of the Defective Products in the state of Kansas within the applicable statute of limitations period;
- c. A “Nationwide Class” based upon claims of unjust enrichment, negligence, violation of the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all persons who purchased any of the Defective Products in the United States for personal, family or household purposes within the applicable statute of limitations period; or
- d. A “Kansas Sub-Class” based on claims brought under the Kansas Consumer Protection Act and for unjust enrichment, strict liability design defect, strict liability failure to warn, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all persons who purchased any of the Defective Products in the state of Kansas for personal, family, or household purposes within the applicable statute of limitations period.

30. Plaintiff Lampton brings this class action pursuant to Rule 23, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, on behalf of himself and the following class of similarly situated persons: all persons who purchased a bonded abrasive wheel at a Harbor Freight Tools store for personal, family or household use:

- a. A “Nationwide Class” based on claims of unjust enrichment, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all customers who purchased any of the Defective Products in the United States within the applicable statute of limitations;
- b. A Missouri Sub-Class based upon claims of unjust enrichment, strict liability design defect, strict liability failure to warn, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all persons who purchased any of the Defective Products in the state of Missouri within the applicable statute of limitations period;
- c. A “Nationwide Class” based upon claims of unjust enrichment, violations of the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all persons who purchased any of the Defective Products in the United States for personal, family or household purposes within the applicable statute of limitations period; or

d. A "Missouri Sub-Class" based on claims brought under the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act and for unjust enrichment, strict liability design defect, strict liability failure to warn, negligence and/or breach of implied warranty consisting of all persons who purchased any of the Defective Products in the state of Missouri for personal, family, or household purposes within the applicable statute of limitations period.

31. Excluded from each Class or Sub-Class is Defendant, including any parent, subsidiary, affiliate or controlled person of Defendant; Defendant's officers, directors, agents or employees; the judicial officers assigned to this litigation; and members of their staffs and immediate families. Also excluded from the Class or Sub-Class are those claiming they have suffered a personal injury as result of the Defective Product.

32. The proposed Nationwide Class, Missouri Sub-Class or Kansas Sub-Class meet all requirements for class certification. The Class or Sub-Classes satisfy the numerosity standards. The Class or Sub-Classes are believed to number in the thousands of persons. As a result, joinder of all Class or Sub-Class Members in a single action is impracticable. Class or Sub-Class Members may be informed of the pendency of this Class Action by published and broadcast notice.

33. There are questions of fact and law common to the Nationwide Class, Missouri Sub-Class or Kansas Sub-Class which predominate over any questions affecting only individual members. The questions of law and fact common to the Class or Sub-Class arising from Defendant's actions include, without limitation, the following:

- a. Whether the shelf life or expiration date of the abrasive wheel is a material fact in the purchasing of abrasive wheel products such as the Defective Product sold by Defendant;
- b. Whether, in marketing and selling the Defective Product, Defendant failed to disclose the dangers and risks of the Defective Product;
- c. Whether Defendant failed to disclose and/or concealed the material fact that the Defective Product had a shelf life or expiration date;
- d. Whether Defendant failed to warn adequately of the dangers of using the Defective Product after its expiration date or shelf life;
- e. Whether Defendant knew or should have known that using the Defective Product after its expiration date or shelf life can cause it to fail and lead to serious injuries;
- f. Whether Defendant adequately tested the Defective Product prior to distribution and sales in the market place;
- g. Whether Defendant continued to manufacture, market, distribute, and sell the Defective Product notwithstanding its knowledge of the products' dangerous nature and risks of expiration;

- h. Whether Defendant knowingly omitted, suppressed or concealed material facts about the unsafe and defective nature of the Defective Product from the consuming public;
- i. Whether Defendant's conduct violated the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act;
- j. Whether Defendant's conduct violated the Kansas Consumer Protection Act; and/or
- k. Whether Defendant's conduct violated Missouri's Merchandising Practices Act.

34. The questions set forth above predominate over any questions affecting only individual persons, and a class action is superior with respect to considerations of consistency, economy, efficiency, fairness and equity, to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy.

35. A class action is the appropriate method for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. The presentation of separate actions by individual Class Members or Sub-Class Members could create a risk of inconsistent and varying adjudications, establish incompatible standards of conduct for Defendant, and/or substantially impair or impede the ability of Nationwide Class Members, Missouri Sub-Class Members, or Kansas Sub-Class Members to protect their interests.

36. The claims of Plaintiff Hammack are typical of the claims of members the Nationwide Class and the Kansas Sub-Class. The labels and packaging of products purchased by Plaintiff Hammack were identical to the labels and packaging of products purchased by Nationwide Class and Kansas Sub-Class members. Based upon information and belief, none of the abrasive wheel products sold by Defendant provided a clearly identified expiration date on the label or packaging of the product. Therefore, the information provided by Defendant to Plaintiff Hammack and all Nationwide Class or Kansas Sub-Class members was identical.

37. Plaintiff Hammack is an adequate representative of the Nationwide Class and Kansas Sub-Class because he is a member of both Classes and his interest does not conflict with the interests of the members of the Nationwide Class or Kansas Sub-Class he seeks to represent. The interests of the members of the Nationwide Class or Kansas Sub-Class will be fairly and adequately protected by the Plaintiff and his undersigned counsel, who have extensive experience prosecuting complex class action litigation.

38. The claims of Plaintiff Lampton are typical of the claims of members of the Nationwide Class and the Missouri Sub-Class. The labels and packaging of products purchased by Plaintiff Lampton were identical to the labels and packaging of products purchased by Nationwide Class and Kansas Sub-Class members. Based upon information and belief, none of the abrasive wheel products sold by Defendant provided a clearly identified expiration date on the label or packaging of the product. Therefore, the information provided by Defendant to Plaintiff Lampton and all Nationwide Class or Missouri Sub-Class members was identical.

39. Plaintiff Lampton is an adequate representative of the Nationwide Class and Missouri Sub-Class because he is a member of both Classes and his interest does not conflict with the interests of the members of the Nationwide Class or Missouri Sub-Class he seeks to represent. The interests of the members of the Nationwide Class or Missouri Sub-Class will be fairly and adequately protected by the Plaintiff and their undersigned counsel, who have extensive experience prosecuting complex class action litigation.

40. Plaintiffs seek a refund of monies paid as a result of their purchase of the Defective Product, that occurred following Defendant's wrongful and improper conduct in connection with the manufacture, marketing, distribution, testing, promotion, labeling and/or selling of the Defective Product.

41. Plaintiffs specifically exclude from this class action any damages, losses, or other relief of any kind arising from the personal injuries suffered by those class members personally injured by the Defective Product because it failed when used after the expiration date. This class action seeks only the economic and injunctive relief requested herein to which class members are entitled under the California Legal Remedies Act, Kansas Consumer Protection Act, Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, and other claims pled.

42. Maintenance of this action as a class action is a fair and efficient method for the adjudication of this controversy. It would be impracticable and undesirable for each member of the Nationwide Class, the Missouri Sub-Class, or Kansas Sub-Class who suffered harm to bring a separate action since the Defective Product costs less than ten dollars individually. In addition, the maintenance of separate actions would place a substantial and unnecessary burden on the courts and could result in inconsistent adjudications, while a single class action can determine, with judicial economy, the rights of all Nationwide Class Members, Missouri Sub-Class Members or Kansas Sub-Class Members.

43. Class action treatment of the claims in this action is the superior method of resolution with respect to concerns of efficiency, fairness and equity over other available methods of adjudication.

44. Class action treatment is appropriate in this case because Defendant acted, or refused to act, in a manner that was generally applicable to – and often identical to – grounds that are applicable to each member of the Nationwide Class or Sub-Class. All members of the Nationwide Class, Missouri Sub-Class or Kansas Sub-Class received the same information provided on the labels and packaging of the Defective Products sold by Defendant.

45. Notice can be provided to Class Members or Sub-Class Members by using techniques and forms of notice similar to those customarily used in other defective-product cases and complex class actions.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

COUNT I – VIOLATION OF THE CALIFORNIA CONSUMER LEGAL REMEDIES ACT

46. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein all other allegations in this Amended Complaint.

47. Plaintiff Hammack and Plaintiff Lampton are consumers as defined under the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act (CLRA).

48. The Defective Product was sold to Plaintiff Hammack and Plaintiff Lampton through its retail store locations in Olathe, Kansas, and Sedalia, Missouri.

49. The sale of the Defective Product to Plaintiffs constitutes a transaction for the purposes of the CLRA.

50. Defendant violated the CLRA by committing one or more unlawful practices including deception, false promises, misrepresentation, and/or the concealment, suppression, or omission of material facts—specifically, the failure to include a clear expiration date—in connection with the sale, distribution or advertisement of the Defective Product violation of Cal. Civ. Code §1770. Specifically, Defendant:

- a. Represented that the product had characteristics, uses or benefits that it did not have; and
- b. Represented that the product was of a particular standard, quality or grade when the product was of another standard, quality or grade.

51. Defendant had a duty to disclose the expiration date of the Defective Product. Use of the Defective Product created a risk of harm from the product giving way, cracking, splitting, exploding or otherwise failing.

52. As the corporate headquarters for Defendant is located in Calabasas, California, decisions regarding the information and warnings provided on the Defective Products are, ultimately, made in California.

53. Defendant's actions and omissions would cause a reasonable person to enter in the sale and transaction that resulted in damages to Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class.

54. Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class seek injunctive relief, enjoining Defendant from selling the Defective Product without a clear and unambiguous expiration date.

55. Plaintiffs will send the statutory notice required under the CLRA to defendant. Unless defendant takes the required action to remedy and eliminate its deceptive conduct, Plaintiffs will request leave to further amend the complaint to claim monetary damages on behalf of the Nationwide Class.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for judgment against Defendant for injunctive relief, for the costs of this action, attorney's fees, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.

COUNT II – VIOLATION OF THE MISSOURI
MERCHANDISING PRACTICE ACT

56. Plaintiff Lampton re-alleges and incorporates herein all other allegations in this Amended Complaint.

57. The acts and practices engaged in by Defendant, and described herein, constitute unlawful, unfair and/or fraudulent business practices in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act, Mo. Ann. Stat. §§ 407.010 et seq.

58. Defendant engaged in unlawful practices including deception, false promises, misrepresentation, and/or the concealment, suppression, or omission of material facts—specifically, the failure to include a clear expiration date—in connection with the sale, distribution or advertisement of the Defective Product violation of Mo. Rev. Stat. § 407.020.

59. Plaintiff Lampton purchased the Defective Product, a product that was falsely represented, as stated above, in violation of the Missouri Merchandising Practices Act and as a result Plaintiff Lampton suffered economic damages in that the product he purchased was worth less than the product he thought he had purchased had Defendant not omitted material facts. Plaintiff Lampton, and other reasonable consumers, had no information to suggest that the Defective Product had an expiration date that, after which, the product would become worthless due to the risk of harm from giving way, cracking, splitting, exploding, or failing with reasonably anticipated use.

60. Plaintiff Lampton and the Missouri Sub-Class acted as reasonable consumers would in light of all circumstances.

61. Defendant's actions and omissions would cause a reasonable person to enter in the sale and transaction that resulted in damages to Plaintiff Lampton and the Missouri Sub-Class.

62. As a result of Defendant's actions and omissions, Plaintiff Lampton and the Missouri Sub-Class suffered economic damages that can be calculated with a reasonable degree of certainty, including a refund of the monies paid as a result of their purchases.

63. Plaintiff Lampton and the Missouri Sub-Class also seek injunctive relief, enjoining Defendant from selling the Defective Product without a clear and unambiguous expiration date.

64. At the time of Defendant's design, manufacture, processing, distribution, sale and/or use of the Defective Product, Defendant knew of the dangerous condition of said product and supplied it with deliberate and/or intentional disregard for making any warning, instruction, or other precaution to prevent injuries and thereby showed complete indifference to and/or conscious disregard for the safety of others. Defendant specifically placed profits ahead of the health and safety of others by intentionally omitting and concealing material facts about the Defective Product's expiration date. Defendant's conduct which caused this damage was willful, wanton, and/or in reckless disregard for the rights of Plaintiff and the Missouri Sub-Class.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Lampton prays for judgment against Defendant for actual damages in excess of the jurisdictional limit as determined at trial, injunctive relief, for the costs of this action, attorney's fees, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.

COUNT III – KANSAS CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT

65. Plaintiff Hammack re-alleges and incorporates herein all other allegations in this Amended Complaint.

66. The acts and practices engaged in by Defendant, and described herein, constitute unlawful, unfair and/or fraudulent business practices in violation of the Kansas Consumer Protection Act, K.S.A §50-623 et seq.

67. Defendant engaged in unlawful practices including willful deception, false promises, misrepresentation, and/or the concealment, suppression, or omission of material facts—specifically, the failure to include a clear expiration date—in connection with the sale, distribution or advertisement of the Defective Product violation of K.S.A. §50-626.

68. Plaintiff Hammack purchased the Defective Product, a product that was falsely represented, as stated above, in violation of the Kansas Consumer Protection Act and as a result Plaintiff Hammack suffered economic damages in that the product he purchased was worth less than the product he thought he had purchased had Defendant not omitted material facts. Plaintiff Hammack, and other reasonable consumers, had no information to suggest that the Defective Product had an expiration date that, after which, the product would become worthless due to the risk of harm from giving way, cracking, splitting, exploding, or failing with reasonably anticipated use.

69. Plaintiff Hammack and the Kansas Sub-Class acted as reasonable consumers would in light of all circumstances.

70. Defendant's actions and omissions would cause a reasonable person to enter in the sale and transaction that resulted in damages to Plaintiff Hammack and the Kansas Sub-Class.

71. As a result of Defendant's actions and omissions, Plaintiff Hammack and the Kansas Sub-Class suffered economic damages that can be calculated with a reasonable degree of certainty, including a refund of the monies paid as a result of their purchases.

72. Plaintiff Hammack and the Kansas Sub-Class also seek injunctive relief, enjoining Defendant from selling the Defective Product without a clear and unambiguous expiration date.

73. At the time of Defendant's design, manufacture, processing, distribution, sale and/or use of the Defective Product, Defendant knew of the dangerous condition of said product and supplied it with deliberate and/or intentional disregard for making any warning, instruction, or other precaution to prevent injuries and thereby showed complete indifference to and/or conscious disregard for the safety of others. Defendant specifically placed profits ahead of the health and safety of others by intentionally omitting and concealing material facts about the Defective Product's expiration date. Defendant's conduct which caused this damage was willful, wanton, and/or in reckless disregard for the rights of Plaintiff Hammack and the Kansas Sub-Class.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Hammack prays for judgment against Defendant for actual damages in excess of the jurisdictional limit as determined at trial, injunctive relief, for the costs of this action, attorney's fees, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.

COUNT IV – UNJUST ENRICHMENT

74. Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton, and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members purchased products from the Defendant that they would not have purchased had they known that the products, when used as anticipated, crack, split, explode and fail.

75. The Defendant was therefore unjustly enriched at the expense of and to the detriment of the Plaintiff and the Class.

76. Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton, and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members are therefore entitled to restitution from the Defendant, and seek an order requiring the Defendant to disgorge all profits, benefits and other compensation the Defendant obtained from the sale of these products.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for judgment against Defendant for actual damages, in excess of the jurisdictional limit and as determined at trial, for the costs of this action, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.

COUNT V -- STRICT LIABILITY IN TORT – DESIGN DEFECT

77. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein all other allegations in this Amended Complaint.

78. Defendant manufactured and/or supplied the Defective Product in question within the ordinary course of its business.

79. Plaintiffs purchased the Defective Product. The Defective Product failed to warn Plaintiffs that it expired, and that if used as reasonably anticipated after the expiration date it was at a substantial risk of cracking, exploding, and injuring Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton, and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members.

80. Defendant knew or should have known of the dangerous nature of the Defective Product and its likelihood to fail at the time of its design, manufacture, sale, testing, transportation, distribution, supply, and use. Notwithstanding, Defendant failed to take safety precautions to prevent economic injury to Plaintiffs and failed to warn and/or instruct Plaintiffs and others of the defective and unreasonably dangerous nature of said product, including the failure to place a clear expiration date on the label, instructing Plaintiffs and consumers not to use after the expiration date.

81. Defendant's defective and unreasonably dangerous product directly and proximately caused economic injuries to Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton, and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members.

82. Defendant's product was used in the manner reasonably anticipated by Defendant and installed per Defendant's instructions.

83. At the time of the design, manufacture, processing, packaging, distribution, sale and/or use of Defendant's product, said product was defective as designed because of its propensity, among other things, to crack, split, warp, splinter, explode and otherwise fail if used after the expiration date, resulting in injury.

84. As a result of Defendant's product's propensity to cause injury, as described above, Defendant's product was unreasonably dangerous and defective when put to the use anticipated by Defendant.

85. As a direct and proximate result of the dangerous and defective condition of Defendant's product and Defendant's failure to warn of the dangers thereof, Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton, and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members have suffered economic injuries.

86. At the time of Defendant's design, manufacture, processing, distribution, sale and/or use of the Defective Product, Defendant knew of the dangerous condition of said product and supplied it with deliberate and/or intentional disregard for making any warning, instruction, or other precaution to prevent injuries and thereby showed complete indifference to and/or conscious disregard for the safety of others. Defendant specifically placed profits ahead of the health and safety of others by intentionally omitting and concealing material facts about the Defective Product's expiration date. Defendant's conduct which caused this damage was willful, wanton, and/or in reckless disregard for the rights of Plaintiff and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs prays for judgment against Defendant for actual damages, in excess of the jurisdictional limit and as determined at trial, for the costs of this action, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.

COUNT VI – STRICT LIABILITY IN TORT – FAILURE TO WARN

87. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein all other allegations in this Amended Complaint.

88. Defendant designed, manufactured, processed, packaged, distributed, marketed, sold and supplied, and labeled the Defective Product at issue, without including and/or making adequate instructions on the use of the product to reduce and/or eliminate the dangerous components thereof, and/or without warnings that the Defective Product expires and that it would crack, split, splinter, warp, explode and otherwise fail and become dangerous and cause injury.

89. As a result of Defendant's failure to adequately instruct on use, including the expiration date, and/or avoidance or to warn of the dangerous characteristics of the product, said product was defective and unreasonably dangerous when put to the use reasonably anticipated by Defendant.

90. As a direct and proximate result of the dangerous and defective condition of Defendant's product and Defendant's failure to instruct and/or warn of the dangers thereof, Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton, and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members have suffered economic injuries.

91. At the time of their design, manufacture, processing, packaging, distribution, marketing, sale, supply and/or use of the Defective Product at issue, Defendant knew of the dangerous condition of said product and supplied it with deliberate and/or intentional disregard for making any warning, instruction, or other precaution to prevent injuries and thereby showed complete indifference to and/or conscious disregard for the safety of others. Defendant specifically placed profits ahead of the health and safety of others by intentionally omitting and concealing material facts about the Defective Product's expiration date. Defendant's conduct which caused this damage was willful, wanton, and/or in reckless disregard for the rights of Plaintiff and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for judgment against Defendant for actual damages, in excess of the jurisdictional limit and as determined at trial, for the costs of this action, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.

COUNT VII -- NEGLIGENCE

92. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein all other allegations in this Amended Complaint.

93. Defendant designed, manufactured, distributed, tested, sold, applied, used and/or supplied the Defective Product at issue.

94. Defendant held itself out as a corporation capable of reasonably and prudently developing, manufacturing, marketing, supplying, testing, distributing, applying, using, supplying, and selling the Defective Product at issue and therefore had the duty to have and exercise the knowledge of an expert on such product.

95. Defendant knew or should have known that the Defective Product created an unreasonable risk of bodily harm, including the risk of breaking and exploding causing serious and catastrophic injuries.

96. As designers, manufacturers, processors, packagers, distributors, marketers, sellers, users, applicers and suppliers of the Defective Product at issue, Defendant had a duty to exercise due care and the ordinary, reasonable and technical skill and competence that is required of designers, manufacturers, processors, packagers, distributors, marketers, sellers, suppliers, and others in a similar situation, including, without limitation, the duty to test its products; the duty to acquire and maintain the knowledge of an expert; the duty to design, manufacture, process, distribute, market, sell, and/or supply its product free from defects and/or latent defects; the duty to adequately warn of product defects and/or hazards, which duty continued even after the sale of said products; and the duty to market, advertise, sell and supply products with adequate information and warnings about the risk of failure and propensity to cause serious injuries.

97. Defendant failed to use due care under the circumstances and thereby breached its duties as set forth above and was careless and negligent in the performance of its said duties to Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Classes.

98. As a direct and proximate result of the dangerous and defective condition of Defendant's products and Defendant's failure to warn of the dangers thereof, Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members have suffered economic injuries.

99. At the time of Defendant's design, manufacture, processing, distribution, marketing, selling, supplying and/or use of the Defective Product at issue, Defendant knew of the dangerous condition of said products and supplied them with deliberate and/or intentional disregard for not making any warning, instruction, or other precaution to prevent injuries and thereby showed complete indifference to and/or conscious disregard for the safety of others. Defendant specifically placed profits ahead of the health and safety of others by intentionally omitting and concealing material facts about the Defective Product's expiration date. Defendant's conduct which caused this damage was willful, wanton, and/or in reckless disregard for the rights of Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for judgment against Defendant for actual damages, in excess of the jurisdictional limit and as determined at trial, for the costs of this action, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.

COUNT VIII – BREACH OF IMPLIED WARRANTY

100. Plaintiffs re-allege and incorporate herein all other allegations in this Amended Complaint.

101. Defendant is a merchant with respect to the sale of the Defective Products purchased by Plaintiff Hammack and Plaintiff Lampton.

102. Defendant, by selling the Defective Products, impliedly warranted that the product was merchantable with respect to goods of that kind.

103. Defendant sold the Defective Product to Plaintiff Hammack and Plaintiff Lampton through its retail store locations in Olathe, Kansas, and Sedalia, Missouri.

104. The Defective Product sold by Defendant to Plaintiff Hammack and Plaintiff Lampton did not conform with the implied promises made with respect to the labels and packaging that accompanied the product. Specifically, by failing to include a clearly identified expiration date, Defendant implied that the Defective Product had no expiration date or shelf life upon which after such expiration date or shelf life, the product could not be safely used.

105. As a result of the failure to provide a clearly marked or identified expiration date on the Defective Product or its packaging, the Defective Products were not merchantable and Defendant breached its implied warranty of merchantability with respect to the Defective Products.

106. Had Plaintiff Hammack and Plaintiff Lampton known that the Defective Products had an expiration date or shelf life, they would not have purchased them or would have paid significantly less for the product. As a result of Defendant's breach of implied warranty, Plaintiff Hammack, Plaintiff Lampton, and the Nationwide Class and/or Missouri Sub-Class and Kansas Sub-Class members have suffered economic injuries.

107. Defendant was provided notice by receipt of demand made by Plaintiff Hammack on behalf of himself and the putative class on or about March 9, 2022.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for judgment against Defendant for actual damages, in excess of the jurisdictional limit and as determined at trial, for the costs of this action, and for such further relief as the Court deems fair and reasonable.
